

WORKING WITH COMMUNITIES

Dumfries and Galloway
Constabulary

Dumfries and Galloway Constabulary is firmly committed to working with schools and industry to help introduce young people to the skills they will need to become productive members of their communities.

In order to demonstrate this commitment officers from the force will attend the 2005 Drumlanrig Schools Open Days to discuss with young people how we can all contribute to:

- ▶ Ensuring a balance between access and privacy rights
- ▶ Safeguarding biodiversity
- ▶ Encouraging safety on farms
- ▶ Protecting our food supplies
- ▶ Encouraging responsible access to the countryside
- ▶ Guarding against vandalism
- ▶ Preserving natural resources for future generations
- ▶ Encouraging outdoor pursuits as healthy lifestyle choices

People come to Dumfries and Galloway for many reasons; to work, for leisure activity or to study. The police try to ensure all the region's people, regardless of their lifestyle, live within and are protected by the law.

We are very proud of the area we police and would like everyone to enjoy it safely without suffering the fear of crime or crime itself. Officers visit all the schools in our area using materials such as the Police Box to encourage pupils to take an active part in protecting the environment and our communities.

Dumfries and Galloway Constabulary is happy to be involved in the Drumlanrig Schools Open Days and welcomes the opportunity to work with teachers and pupils to make the event a success for everyone involved.
